Aims, commitments and risks

Its aims

What is the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP and what benefits does it offer me?

The AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP is a personal pension scheme designed to help you accumulate a sum of money which is then used to provide you with an income after you reach your chosen pension age. It can give you greater choice, freedom and control than other types of pension, enabling you to select and manage your own investment portfolio from a wide range of choices.

You can pay one-off or regular contributions into the SIPP to take advantage of the generous tax privileges available. You can also transfer existing pension benefits into the SIPP.

Your investments will be free of Capital Gains Tax and Income Tax.

The SIPP gives you the flexibility, from the age of 55 (57 from 6 April 2028), to decide when you wish to take benefits. It provides for lump sum and pension benefits for you in retirement and for your family and dependants following your death.

Your commitment

What you have to do as a SIPP member

You must ensure that you understand the features, benefits and risks of the SIPP so that you can be sure it will meet your needs and expectations.

You must maintain an ongoing business relationship with a financial adviser registered with AJ Bell Investcentre. As part of that relationship, you must decide on the contributions and transfers to be paid to your SIPP, you must agree and regularly review your investment strategy, and you must decide not only when to take benefits from your SIPP, but also the level of those benefits.

You must ensure that any regular or single contributions paid are sufficient to meet your needs in retirement. There is no penalty for ceasing or reducing any regular contributions, but your benefits will be affected by the level of contributions paid to your SIPP.

If you transfer benefits into your SIPP from another pension scheme, you and your adviser will be responsible for arranging the transfer from that scheme.

You must decide when to convert your total fund into a pension income. When you make this decision you may be able to take some of your fund as a tax-free lump sum.

Each SIPP will have its own cash account. You must retain sufficient cash in this account to cover ongoing charges and expenses. Full details of the SIPP charges are published in the 'charges and rates' section of our website (www.investcentre.co.uk) and are available from your adviser.

You must agree to be bound by the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP terms and conditions, and to pay the charges and rates associated with the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP.

You must review regularly, with your adviser, whether the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP remains appropriate for your circumstances.

Risks

Factors that could affect the benefits you will receive from your SIPP

The main aim of any pension scheme is to provide you with benefits in retirement. The three areas in which your decisions will affect the benefits you are able to receive from your SIPP are:

- payments to your SIPP
- investments within your SIPP
- withdrawals from your SIPP

We have set out below the risks most closely associated with these three areas. When deciding whether the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP is right for you, you should also consider risk factors that are beyond your control, such as the tax reliefs available, inflation, interest rates, annuity rates and charges, and the effect these may have on your pension plans. For information on these factors, please speak to your financial adviser.

Payments to your SIPP

By transferring benefits from another pension provider into your SIPP, you may give up the right to guarantees over the type and the amount of benefits you will receive, and also the level of increases that will be applied to your pension in future. Your existing pension provider may apply a penalty, or other reduction in the value of your benefits, if it is transferred.

Transferring out of final salary pension schemes will usually result in you being worse off, even if you are offered an incentive to transfer. You should seek advice from your financial adviser before transferring. We can only accept transfers containing safeguarded benefits (including defined benefits pensions) with a value in excess of £30,000, if you have received advice which resulted in a positive recommendation to transfer.

There is no guarantee that you will be able to match the benefits that you give up by transferring your pension to us.

Your benefits will be affected by the level of contributions paid to your SIPP now and in the future. You may benefit less from investment growth if you delay the payment of contributions to your SIPP.

Please note that the rules relating to tax relief on contributions may change in the future.

Investments within your SIPP

The value of investments held in your SIPP, and the income from them, can fall as well as rise. You may get back less than the amount invested.

Past performance is not an indication of future performance, and some investments may need to be held for the long term to achieve a return.

You will be able to deal in a range of investments. Some investments carry a higher degree of risk than others. The following are some specific examples:

- Smaller companies, the prices of which can be more volatile, and for which there may be a large difference between the buying and selling prices.
- Overseas investments, which may carry an exchange rate risk, and may be based in less well regulated jurisdictions.
- Warrants and other highly geared investments, the prices of which are extremely volatile.

Some investments are described as complex financial instruments. If you invest in these you should be aware that you may lose all your money.

We do not provide investment advice as this is an execution- only service. We do provide information about investments, but this is provided solely to enable you and your adviser to make your own investment decisions. It must not, therefore, be treated as a recommendation. If you need advice to determine whether an investment is suitable for you, you must consult your adviser.

If the value of your SIPP is small and/or you deal frequently in small amounts, dealing costs may be disproportionately high and the value of your SIPP may be eroded.

You should note that rules relating to the taxation of capital gains and income from investments may change in the future.

The investment returns may be less than those shown on any illustrations of benefits you receive and the charges may be higher.

Withdrawals from your SIPP

If you start to take benefits earlier than you originally intended, the level of the benefits you can take may be lower than expected and may not meet your needs in retirement.

Payments you take from your SIPP are subject to Income Tax. You may have to pay a significant amount of tax if you make large withdrawals in a short period of time.

Cash and investments held within your SIPP benefit from significant tax advantages when compared with cash and investments you hold outside pensions.

If you take income withdrawals this may erode the capital value of your fund. If investment returns are poor and a high level of income is taken, this will result in your SIPP falling in value. This could mean a lower income than anticipated in the future. If your SIPP runs out of funds it could leave you relying on other sources of income for the rest of your retirement.

The pension you receive from your SIPP is not fixed or guaranteed for life. If security of income is important to you then you should consider taking an annuity.

If you choose an annuity to provide your benefits, the level of income you receive is based upon the average life expectancy of someone of your age. When fixing annuity rates, providers take into account the fact that some people will die earlier than expected, effectively subsidising those who live longer. Income withdrawals paid from your SIPP will not have the benefit of such a subsidy.

There is no guarantee that annuity rates will improve in the future. If you choose to purchase an annuity, the level of pension you receive when you purchase the annuity may be less or more than the pension previously being paid under income withdrawal and/or the annuity you could have purchased previously.

If you have a small SIPP and no other assets or income to fall back on, the financial impact of these risks may be greater.

Your SIPP can provide pension and lump sum benefits to others after your death. When thinking about how much to take out you should consider whether others may be relying on your SIPP after your death.

Having considered these risks, if you have any doubts about the suitability of our SIPP, or if you need further advice, you must contact your adviser or another suitably qualified person.

Questions and answers

Could this SIPP be right for me?

The AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP could be right for you if you:

- are looking to build up a pension fund in a tax-efficient way
- understand that growth is not guaranteed
- are prepared to commit to having your money tied up, normally until at least age 55 (57 from 6 April 2028)
- require access to wider investment opportunities, such as investment with a discretionary investment manager, in a portfolio of stocks and shares and/or unit trusts or an external bank account

- wish to make use of the flexible lump sum and pension options available once you reach age of 55 (57 from 6 April 2028)

It may not be suitable if you:

- want unrestricted access to your money before age of 55 (57 from 6 April 2028)
- are only likely to require access to a more limited range of investments, such as those available under insurance company personal pensions or stakeholder pension plans

If you have any doubts about the suitability of the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP, you should contact your adviser.

Can I have this SIPP?

You can have an AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP if you are resident in the UK.

If you are resident overseas you may be able to set up an AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP for the purposes of transferring benefits from a UK-registered pension scheme. Please ask your adviser to contact us for more information.

Is this SIPP a stakeholder pension?

The AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP is not a stakeholder pension.

Stakeholder pensions are relatively simple pension plans, with limited investment options, for which the Government has set minimum standards to be met by providers covering areas such as charges, minimum payment levels and terms and conditions.

Stakeholder pensions are generally available and may meet your needs at least as well as a SIPP. If you are in any doubt about the suitability of a SIPP, you should contact your adviser.

What are the charges?

Please read the 'charges and rates' section on our website (www.investcentre.co.uk).

Adviser charging

Your adviser will discuss their charges and agree them with you. For advice relating to your SIPP, you can either pay these charges directly to your adviser, or we can arrange for them to be deducted from your SIPP. If you decide to go for the latter option, you will need to complete either the adviser charging section within the application form, or the adviser charging variation and additional payment form. If your adviser charges are paid from your SIPP, the value of the SIPP will reduce accordingly.

What other terms and conditions apply to this SIPP?

The AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP terms and conditions set out the full terms and conditions for your SIPP. Your adviser will provide you with a copy, or you can get one from the AJ Bell Investcentre website (www.investcentre.co.uk).

Contributions

Who can pay contributions into my SIPP?

You can pay personal contributions into your SIPP. In addition, contributions can be paid by another person on your behalf by your spouse, parent or grandparent and treated as your personal contributions for tax purposes.

If you are employed, your employer can also pay contributions into your SIPP.

Once your SIPP is set up you can pay single contributions and/or increase/decrease your regular contributions at any time, subject only to the minimum contribution levels described below.

Once you have reached age 75 we will no longer accept any contributions paid by you. If you are still employed we can accept contributions paid by your employer.

Are there any minimum contribution levels?

There is no requirement to pay any contributions if a transfer payment is paid to your SIPP.

If you want to contribute, the minimum single contribution is £1,000 (gross). There is currently no minimum level for your regular contributions.

How can contributions be made?

Single contributions can only be paid by cheque or electronically. Requests to make a contribution by electronic payment can be submitted by the adviser on our website. The relevant bank details and a unique payment reference will be provided as part of this process, removing the requirement for any paperwork to be submitted. Electronic payments also help to prevent any delays in funds being applied to your account.

Regular contributions must be paid monthly by Direct Debit. Contributions paid by Direct Debit will be taken on the first of the month, or the next working day if the first is not a working day.

What if I am entitled to enhanced protection or one of the forms of fixed protection and make a contribution?

If you registered with HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) for fixed protection 2016 on or after 15 March 2023, or you made a successful late application for enhanced protection, fixed protection 2012 or fixed protection 2014 on or after this date, the payment of any contribution to your SIPP will result in the loss of this protection.

If you registered for any of these protections before 15 March 2023, contributions can be made from 6 April 2023 without affecting the protection.

Do I get tax relief on my contributions?

In each tax year, you will get tax relief on personal contributions paid by you, or on your behalf, up to 100% of your UK earnings.

If you have no UK earnings, or your UK earnings are less than £3,600 a year, you can still pay contributions up to £3,600 (gross) and receive tax relief.

Any contributions from your employer do not count against this tax relief limit.

All personal contributions (whether you are employed or self-employed) are payable net of basic rate tax (20% for 2024/25). As an example, if you pay a net contribution of £800 then we will reclaim £200 from HMRC and credit this amount to your SIPP cash account once it has been received. Basic rate Income Tax will be credited to your SIPP cash account after between 6 and 11 weeks, depending upon when your contribution is paid. You must claim via self-assessment any further tax relief to which you are entitled.

We will only accept contributions up to the limit for tax relief referred to above. You must tell us within 30 days if you are no longer entitled to tax relief on your contributions.

All employer contributions are payable gross. Your employer will normally receive tax relief on any contributions they pay to your SIPP and you will not normally be taxed on these contributions.

What is the annual allowance for contributions?

HMRC uses the annual allowance to restrict tax relief on large contributions.

The annual allowance is £60,000 for 2024/25.

If, in any tax year, the total of:

- contributions paid to registered pension schemes by you, or on your behalf (including any paid by an employer) and

- the increase in the value of your benefits under any final salary schemes is greater than £60,000 you will exceed the annual allowance.

A factor of £16 per £1 p.a. of pension will be used to value the increase in benefits under a final salary scheme.

If you have flexibly accessed your pension benefits an annual allowance of £10,000 will apply to contributions to all 'money purchase' pensions, including your SIPP.

Continuing to take an income under the capped drawdown limit, taking a tax-free lump sum only, or purchasing a traditional annuity, will not reduce the level of contributions you can make.

If you are a high-income individual, your annual allowance may be reduced.

For the 2024/25 tax year, you will be a high-income individual with:

- an 'adjusted income' of over £260,000 for the tax year, and
- 'threshold income' of over £200,000

As a high-income individual, your annual allowance will be reduced by £1 for every £2 that your adjusted income exceeds £260,000, to a minimum allowance of £10,000

What happens if I exceed the annual allowance?

If you exceed the annual allowance, you may be able to 'carry forward' your unused annual allowance from the previous three tax years. Carry forward is subject to your maximum annual allowance for each of the three previous tax years. The amount you can carry forward is reduced by your annual allowance usage during those tax years.

If, having made use of carry forward, you still exceed the annual allowance, you will have to pay a tax charge on the excess. The tax charge will be based on your marginal rate of Income Tax.

You cannot use carry forward in your SIPP if the £4,000 money purchase annual allowance applies once you have flexibly accessed your pension benefits.

Transfers

Can I transfer my existing pension benefits into my SIPP?

Yes. Currently you can transfer benefits from any UK registered pension scheme into your SIPP.

You are not allowed to transfer benefits to a SIPP from most public sector pension schemes.

Transferring out of private sector final salary pension schemes involves giving up guaranteed benefits. You must take advice before transferring from final salary pensions. We can only accept transfers containing safeguarded benefits (including defined benefits pensions) with a value in excess of £30,000, if you have received advice which resulted in a positive recommendation to transfer.

You can make a transfer even if you have commenced drawdown under the scheme from which you wish to transfer. The benefits will be subject to the same maximum income limit and pension year as under the scheme from which you are transferring.

Please note that you, or your adviser, will be responsible for arranging the transfer from the transferring scheme. It may take some time for us to receive the transfer payment from your existing provider.

Can I transfer investments held in another SIPP into my AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP?

Yes, although any investments transferred 'in specie' (i.e. assets that are transferred in their present form, as opposed to if they were sold and converted into cash) must be an acceptable investment for your SIPP. Please ask your adviser to email us details of your portfolio of investments under the transferring scheme and we will inform your adviser of our future requirements.

Can I transfer my SIPP to another pension plan?

You can transfer the value of your SIPP to another UK registered pension scheme, or Qualifying Recognised Overseas Pension Scheme (QROPS), at any time.

If you have started taking benefits from your SIPP, then you must transfer the whole of that part of your fund from which you are drawing benefits to your new scheme. If you have uncrystallised funds under the SIPP (i.e. no benefits have commenced) you can choose to transfer all, or only a part, of those uncrystallised funds to another pension scheme.

If the transfer is to a QROPS a check against your overseas transfer allowance must be carried out before the transfer payment is made. The overseas transfer allowance is a limit on the amount you can transfer to a QROPS tax-free. Your overseas transfer allowance is equal to your lump sum and death benefits allowance, which is usually £1,073,100 unless you have a form of protection for your pension benefits. Any amount being transferred above your available overseas transfer allowance will be subject to the overseas transfer charge at a rate of 25%.

The transfer can be in the form of a cash payment, in which case you will have to sell all of the investments held under your SIPP before the transfer is completed, or you may be able to transfer them in their existing form (known as an 'in specie transfer').

Investments

What can I invest in?

Our SIPP has been designed to allow you considerable flexibility over your choice of investments.

We offer various options through which you can invest all, or part, of your SIPP funds with our panel of investment partners. We also give you the flexibility to invest SIPP funds either through other investment managers, who are not on our panel of investment partners, or in a wide range of other permitted investments e.g. external bank accounts. Investments that are not made through our panel of investment partners are referred to below as 'off-panel investments', and attract additional costs.

You can invest with our panel of investment partners through the following options.

Funds & Shares Service

Our Funds & Shares Service allows you to invest using our in-house investment option. This allows us to keep costs down and ensures that you benefit from a consistently high level of service across every aspect of your investment portfolio. This option provides access to more than 4,000 collectives (of which over 3,000 are clean share classes), shares in investment trusts, Exchange Traded Funds, Exchange Traded Commodities, UK equities and gilts, corporate bonds, REITs and PIBS.

Your adviser places orders on your behalf, either online or over the telephone.

If you are considering investing in unit trusts or OEICs you must also read the key features for collective investments documents.

Funds & Shares Service XO (F&SS XO)

F&SS XO is our execution-only option, and is part of our Funds & Shares Service. It allows you to manage your own investments, and to place orders either online or over the telephone. Funds within F&SS XO are held separately from those managed by your adviser/investment manager. You are responsible for managing your account and we will contact you directly on any actions you need to take.

Investment partners and discretionary fund managers option

Instead of using our Funds & Shares Service, you can appoint one of our investment partners to manage funds held under your SIPP, either on an advisory or discretionary basis. The range of investments available and charges vary by investment partner. You will need to sign a separate agreement with your chosen investment partner.

The investment range is, in all cases, subject to the AJ Bell Investcentre terms and conditions and HMRC regulations.

Can I make regular investments?

Yes you can. Our regular investment service allows you to invest every month without incurring dealing charges in our regular investment funds universe, any FTSE 350 share, selected ETFs, ETCs and investment trusts. Setting up a regular investment is simple and once we have received your instruction, we will automatically make your deals on the 10th calendar day of each month (or the next working day).

Obviously, for us to make your deals, there must be sufficient money in the customer cash account to pay for them. If there is not, we will not make the regular investments on that given month and will try again the next month.

Your adviser is able to amend your regular investment instructions up until midnight on the ninth calendar day of each month (or midnight on the day before the regular investment dealing day).

What off-panel investment options are available?

You can use all, or part, of your SIPP to purchase stocks, shares and unit trust investments with one or more off-panel investment managers of your choice. It is not possible for your SIPP to hold these investments directly. You must hold them through an investment manager (whether panel or off-panel). Your adviser will be able to assist in opening an account.

You can also use your SIPP to invest in a wide range of other investments including:

- insurance company trustee investment plans
- bank and building society accounts
- other fund supermarkets or investment platforms

Your adviser will be able to inform you of the costs applicable to specific investments.

If you make use of the off-panel investment options you are still able to invest part of your SIPP fund with one, or more, of our investment partners, if you wish.

How do I obtain a valuation of my SIPP?

You can obtain a valuation of your SIPP at any time by logging on to the AJ Bell Investcentre website or contacting your adviser.

We will send you regular statements detailing all transactions on your SIPP cash account.

If you hold an account with one of our panel of investment partners, they will also send you regular information on your investment account. You may also be able to obtain this information via their website.

Are there any restrictions on what I can invest in?

Yes. The investments available will depend on the investment option and investment partner chosen by you. However, your SIPP cannot invest directly in:

- Commercial or residential property
- property overseas
- personal chattels (e.g. works of art, cars etc.)
- loans
- any activity that could be regarded as trading

Member benefits

When can I take my benefits?

You can commence benefits, whether or not you continue to work, at any time from age of 55 (57 from 6 April 2028).

It may be possible to commence benefits earlier if you are in serious ill-health, or to transfer benefits to the SIPP from an existing pension with a lower pension age – provided the transfer meets certain HMRC requirements.

The charges for taking benefits are listed within the charges and rates.

How do I commence benefits?

You can take, or 'crystallise', benefits from all, or only a part, of your SIPP. This will allow you to phase your benefits to suit your personal circumstances.

You will need to contact your adviser to discuss your options and obtain the necessary documentation.

You must complete the relevant benefit form to tell us how much of your SIPP is to be used to provide your benefits and how you want the benefits to be paid. Where relevant you will also have to tell us about benefits you have taken previously and any protection you have for your benefits.

Is there any limit on the amount of my benefits?

There is no limit on how much of your SIPP you can convert to income drawdown or use to purchase a lifetime annuity. However, there are two limits in respect of tax-free lump sums.

The lump sum allowance – currently £268,275. Pension commencement lump sums and the 25% tax-free element of uncrystallised funds pension lump sums count towards this.

The lump sum and death benefit allowance – currently £1,073,100. Pension commencement lump sums and the 25% tax-free element of uncrystallised funds pension lump sums count towards this. In addition, serious ill-health lump sums paid tax-free before age 75 and tax-free lump sum death benefits paid tax-free before age 75 also count towards it.

These allowances were introduced on 6 April 2024, replacing the previous allowance, which was called the lifetime allowance and was set at £1,073,100 in 2023/24. If you took benefits between 6 April 2006 and 5 April 2024, you will have used up some lifetime allowance. When you first come to take benefits on or after 6 April 2024, a one-off calculation will take place to reduce your lump sum allowance and lump sum and death benefit allowance based on how much lifetime allowance you used.

If you have registered with HMRC for protection of your pension savings, you may have higher allowances.

Can I take a tax-free lump sum from my SIPP?

Yes. You can have a tax-free lump sum (also known as the 'pension commencement lump sum'). The value of this can be up to the lower of:

- 25% of the value of the fund applied to provide your benefits and
- your unused lump sum allowance and
- your unused lump sum and death benefit allowance.

If you have protected lump sum rights, then you may be entitled to a larger tax-free lump sum.

You cannot take a tax-free lump sum with the intention of using it to increase your pension contributions. This is because the lump sum will be treated as an unauthorised payment. You will be taxed on the payment at between 40% and 55%. Your pension fund will also be subject to a tax charge of between 15% and 40% (depending on how much of the tax charge you have already paid).

Are any other lump sums available from my SIPP?

You also have the option of taking a taxable type of lump sum from your SIPP.

A quarter of the lump sum will be tax-free, with the other three-quarters taxed at your marginal rate. So if you chose to take a lump sum of £10,000, the first £2,500 would be tax-free with the other £7,500 subject to tax. Note that only the 25% tax-free element counts against your allowances.

This option is known as an 'uncrystallised funds pension lump sum'.

You will be able to receive one of these lump sums from all or part of your fund, but need to consider the amount of tax you will have to pay from larger payments.

You can choose to take these lump sums on an ad-hoc or a regular basis.

The lump sum will only be available from funds that have yet to be used to provide you with benefits. It will not be available once you have used up your lump sum allowance or lump sum and death benefit allowance, or where you hold certain types of protection for your pension benefits.

Once you have taken one of these lump sums the amount you will be able to contribute to money purchase pensions will fall to £10,000 each tax year.

What are my options for taking pension benefits?

If you choose to take a tax-free lump sum payment, the remaining fund will be used to provide you with a pension in one of a number of different ways.

Drawdown pension

Drawdown pension, also known as 'flexi-access drawdown', is when your pension fund remains invested and you draw an income from the fund. There is no minimum or maximum level of income, so you can elect to receive a 'nil' pension or take your whole SIPP in one go, if you wish.

Payments you receive from drawdown pension are subject to tax. You should make sure that you understand how much tax you may have to pay when deciding how much pension to take. Taking a high level of pension in a short period of time may mean you have to pay a higher rate of tax than you were expecting.

You can choose to take a regular monthly, quarterly, half yearly or annual income. We will make pension payments on the 16th of the month (or the previous working day, should the 16th fall on a non-working day).

Payments should reach your nominated account within three working days. You can also take one-off pension payments to suit your circumstances.

Taking any income under flexi-access drawdown will reduce the amount you can contribute to your SIPP and any other money purchase pensions to £10,000 each tax year.

If your SIPP holds a mixture of funds that have and have not been used to provide you with benefits, you can choose to draw further benefits at any time.

You can choose to purchase a lifetime annuity with your drawdown pension fund at any time. Before selecting a drawdown pension you should consult your adviser.

Capped drawdown

If you started your drawdown pension fund before 6 April 2015 you may be in a different type of drawdown pension called 'capped drawdown'. This works in a similar way to flexi-access drawdown but the amount of pension you can take is subject to a maximum limit.

The maximum level of annual income is currently set at 150% of the Government Actuary's Department's (GAD) relevant annuity rate. This rate varies depending on your age and returns from Government securities, and is applied to the value of your pension fund at the date the fund is first used to provide drawdown pension and at each subsequent review.

The maximum income will be recalculated every three years until you reach age 75, and annually thereafter. You can elect to have the maximum income level reviewed at each anniversary of the date funds were first designated to provide drawdown pension. You must make the election before the relevant anniversary.

You can also move further funds into your capped drawdown pot at any time. This will normally trigger an immediate review of the maximum income level.

Whilst you remain in capped drawdown, provided you have not flexibly accessed benefits elsewhere, you retain the option of contributing up to £60,000 to your SIPP each tax year.

You can move from capped to flexi-access drawdown at any time simply by completing our 'capped to flexi-access drawdown conversion form'.

Lifetime annuity

A lifetime annuity is a regular, taxable income guaranteed to last you for life. Buying a lifetime annuity involves passing the value of your SIPP to the insurance company of your choice.

The annuity available will depend on the value of your fund, annuity rates at the date of purchasing the annuity and the type of annuity you choose.

If you buy an annuity, you will usually cease to have any involvement with the investment of your pension fund. This may be the right option if security of income is an important issue.

When you purchase your annuity you can decide whether you want the payments you receive to stay level, go up in line with inflation, or decrease at a later time. The last option may be useful if you have other sources of income that will only be available at a later date.

If you choose an annuity that will fall in value at a later date the amount you can contribute to money purchase pensions, including your SIPP, will be £10,000 each tax year.

Do I pay tax on pension payments?

All pensions paid to you under drawdown will generally be subject to Income Tax. We will deduct the tax due before paying your pension.

If you are receiving a drawdown pension following the death of another person, for example your spouse, this will not normally be subject to tax where the deceased was younger than 75 when they died and you did not receive payments from the drawdown fund before 6 April 2015.

If you purchase a lifetime annuity, the annuity provider will be responsible for the payment of Income Tax.

Do I have to take benefits?

No. You are not forced to take lump sum or pension benefits from your SIPP at any time.

Where can I receive advice or guidance about my benefit options?

Your adviser will be able to provide you with further information regarding the options available to you and the investment choices that fit best with your pension planning.

Guidance is available from the Government-backed 'Pension Wise' service. This is a free and impartial service available online, over the phone from MoneyHelper, and face-to-face from Citizens Advice. Though this may be valuable for certain individuals, the Pension Wise service is not intended to be a substitute for full financial advice. More information can be found at www.moneyhelper.org.uk/pensionwise.

As we cannot give you advice, we would recommend that you contact your adviser or access the Pension Wise service. We can arrange a Pension Wise appointment for you as part of an application to take benefits, unless you would prefer to make your own arrangements. More information can be found in our Benefits guide and forms.

Death benefits

What benefits are paid when I die?

Death benefits payable from your SIPP

Death benefits may be paid as a lump sum or applied to provide pension benefits for any beneficiary, either under drawdown or by annuity purchase.

Death benefits are payable at the discretion of AJ Bell Management Limited as the scheme administrator of your SIPP. You may nominate the individuals you wish to receive benefits and your wishes will be taken into account. You may complete a new nomination at any time.

Lump sums paid on death are normally free of any Inheritance Tax but we cannot guarantee that this will be the case.

Death benefits are normally paid tax-free from the funds of individuals who died before age 75, regardless of whether that individual was taking benefits or not, and can be paid as a lump sum or pension. However, these death benefits are only tax-free when paid as a lump sum if they are within the deceased's lump sum and death benefit allowance. Any excess over the allowance is subject to income tax at the beneficiary's marginal rate. Death benefits paid as a pension are not subject to the lump sum and death benefit allowance.

Where the deceased was over 75 death benefits are usually taxed at the marginal rate of income tax of the recipient. If a lump sum is paid to a trust when death occurs over 75 it will be taxed at 45%.

Lifetime annuity

The benefits payable, if any, will be determined by the terms of the annuity contract.

Miscellaneous

What are the rules that govern my SIPP?

The scheme is governed by a trust deed and rules (scheme rules), as amended from time to time. This key features document summarises the main provisions of the rules and of the legislation that applies to registered pension schemes.

However, in the event of any discrepancy between the key features and the trust deed and rules, the trust deed and rules will prevail. A copy of our scheme rules is available from your adviser on request.

How secure is my money?

AJ Bell Management Limited is the scheme administrator of the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP and is responsible for the day-to-day administration and management of the scheme.

Sippdeal Trustees Limited (STL), a wholly owned subsidiary of AJ Bell Management Limited, is the trustee of the scheme.

AJ Bell Management Limited is part of AJ Bell, one of the UK's largest investment platforms, with £81.6 billion of assets under administration and 499,000 customers.

AJ Bell Management Limited is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Sippdeal Trustees Limited (STL) does not conduct any regulated activities and is, therefore, not regulated.

The Funds & Shares Service is provided by AJ Bell Securities Limited, which is also part of AJ Bell. AJ Bell Securities is a member of the London Stock Exchange and is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

Bank of Scotland is the provider/establisher of the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP. The bank will satisfy any statutory obligations that it may have from time to time, as provider/establisher of the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP.

What if I change my mind?

You have a legal right to cancel your SIPP if you change your mind. If you wish to cancel you must do so within 30 days of the date you receive our letter confirming the establishment of your SIPP.

Cancellation rights will also apply to the receipt of transfer payments and on the first occasion that you choose to take benefits. You will have 30 days from the date that you receive our letter acknowledging the transfer or establishing the benefits to exercise your right to cancel.

You may exercise your right to cancel by writing to us, quoting your name and SIPP reference number at:

AJ Bell Investcentre
AJ Bell Management Limited
4 Exchange Quay
Salford Quays
Manchester
M5 3EE

Fax: 0345 83 99 061

Email: enquiry@investcentre.co.uk

You must state whether you wish to cancel your SIPP, a specific transfer, or benefits.

If you wish to make an investment during the 30 day cancellation period you can do so, but this will lapse your cancellation rights. Lapsing your rights will mean that you cannot cancel your SIPP, contributions or transfers.

Further information about your cancellation rights is included in the AJ Bell Investcentre SIPP terms and conditions. Your adviser can also provide you with a copy.

Are there any compensation arrangements covering my SIPP?

Yes. The Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS) has been set up to deal with compensation if firms are unable to meet claims made against them. The FSCS operates separate sub-schemes, including ones for deposits and for investment business.

Any cash that you hold in your SIPP cash account is protected up to £85,000 in the event of the bank failing. If you also hold cash in a separate deposit account, this will also be protected up to £85,000 provided the deposit taker operates under a different banking licence. Please note that the £85,000 limit applies to all cash that you hold with that deposit taker, including any non-SIPP cash such as that held in personal accounts or savings accounts.

Individual investments held in a SIPP are protected up to £85,000 per investment per individual. This is on the proviso that the investment itself is authorised by the FCA. Shares and equities are not authorised by the FCA, so they are not covered by the FSCS. Most funds and collectives, however, are authorised by the FCA, so those that are authorised will be covered.

In the event of default by AJ Bell itself, following which you incur a loss, you can make a claim via the FSCS. Under current rules, the FSCS will pay compensation of up to £85,000 in the event of the failure of any party in relation to the SIPP.

Further information about the compensation arrangements is available from the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (www.fscs.org.uk).

Can AJ Bell Investcentre give me advice?

No. AJ Bell Investcentre, AJ Bell Management Limited, AJ Bell Securities Limited and Sippdeal Trustees Limited are not authorised to provide any advice on tax or financial services-related matters.

If you need any advice, you must consult your adviser.

What if I have any further questions?

You must contact your adviser, although more detailed information on the SIPP and the various investment options is available at www.investcentre.co.uk.

What if I have a complaint?

Customer satisfaction is very important to us and if you do have any cause to complain about the services provided, either by your financial adviser or by AJ Bell Investcentre, there are clear procedures laid down by the Financial Conduct Authority to ensure that your complaint is dealt with fairly.

If your complaint relates to the advice you have been given, you should write to your adviser. If your complaint concerns the service you have received from AJ Bell Investcentre, please contact us in the first instance at:
